

How to complete a DP/PCI publication

Audience: All scientists that are publishing papers using data or information gathered from Dangermond Preserve

Step 1

Congratulations! You did it, it's real, you've completed a scientific manuscript! Double check and make sure you've included the proper Dangermond DOI and acknowledgement (link).

Step 2

Communicate: Once your paper is published Please send a PDF and the link of the publication to Dangermond Scientist, Elizabeth Hiroyasu at e.h.hiroyasu@TNC.ORG, and your publication will be added to the Dangermond Zotero Library.

Step 3

Publicize! Are you planning to promote your paper on social media? If yes, the Dangermond Preserve and PCI teams are happy to help share the great news! Please send a link to your social post to Karin Lin at klin@tnc.org (cc. Elizabeth Hiroyasu at e.h.hiroyasu@TNC.ORG).

Don't forget to use our standard hashtags: #DangermondPreserve #PointConceptionInstitute. For more information on our general social media policy, click here.

Please reach out if you plan to pursue earned media.

Step 4

Document: To help us track publications, please don't forget to include your paper in the annual project renewal submission.

Step 5

Celebrate your wins with the team!
